Founded in Fall 2018, ITLL Colloquia is an initiative by ITLL (a Research Lab of the University of Padova).
The Colloquia provides opportunities for students to engage in dialogue with experts in the field of Technology Law and to discuss legal processes and strategic challenges with academics, professionals and experienced law practitioners. Unlike a lecture course, the Colloquia generates a free flow of ideas among participants and the distinction between "teacher" and "student" is abandoned in favor of the joint pursuit of advanced study.
The Colloquia's aim is to enable students to explore selected issues, case studies and policy debates in a highly interactive seminar (mostly held in italian) and to learn more about internship opportunities provided by top law firms.
The Colloquia contributes to the "Innovative Teaching Project" founded by the University of Padova.

Coordinator: Prof. Claudia Sandei
